

oncology NEWS

I N T E R N A T I O N A L

August 2008

Epocrates Drug ID app available on iPhone 3G

■ SAN MATEO, CALIFORNIA—Epocrates, Inc. of San Mateo, California, has released a clinical reference application for the iPhone and other iPod products. The mobile drug and formulary reference has been updated with images and a drug identification tool.

Enhanced features give oncologists the ability to show pictures of a newly prescribed drug to their patients. Or when a patient cannot recall the name of a medication, the identification tool offers a physical description of the drug packaging (eg, round, blue, and scored).

The Epocrates application is available as a free download from Apple's App Store on iPhone and iPod touch or at www.itunes.com/appstore.